CREAM OF NEWS.

IF IT IS NEW AND TRUE THIS COLUMN HAS IT.

Sam Jones' Third Visit—Barn Burned—Burglaries at Trenton and Guthrie—New Coal Mine—Thirteen More Indictments—Speaking Yesterday.

A Robber and Rapist.

Last Thursday afternoon the dwelling house of Mr. Rufus B. Carter, near Trenton, was burglarized, and about $100 in money and some clothing were carried off. Mr. Carter's cook, a colored woman named Bell Buckner, was on the premises when the robbery occurred and says she recognized Sam Diamond, col., alias Sam Brookman, as he came out of the house, and charges him with the crime. The Buckner woman also claims that Diamond attempted to assault her, but she failed to escape and her cries for help caused him to disappear. Diamond has relatives living in this city and it is believed he will make his way here. Officers in every direction have been notified and it is quite likely that he will be captured no matter where he goes.

Not Many Changes.

So far as we have heard but few new committeemen were elected in the twenty-four county precincts Saturday. The Democratic Committee for the election of an excellent one and so satisfactory to the party generally that there was no disposition to make changes. Under the instructions the old committee men will remain in office until the State Central Committee takes action in cases where elections were not held.

Palmyra precinct was one of those that held a convention and Judge T. J. Morrow was chosen unanimously to succeed Mr. J. C. Buckner, who was ineligible for re-election.

Burglars Take Guthrie.

Last Thursday night burglars entered several houses in Guthrie and secured considerable cash and merchandise. The business house of Ed Bradley was entered and the cash drawer emptied of its contents—$10 in silver. A lot of clothing was also missing. The Rahl House also suffered to the extent of about $25, and the Roach residence was also broken open and clothing and other valuable articles carried off. A detective has been put on the cases and may ferret out the robbers, as they are believed to be local parties.

North Christian News.

CLARDY, Oct. 5.—Mrs. E. C. Hopper's tobacco barn containing about 5 acres of tobacco, was consumed by fire on Thursday night. Her entire crop excepting about 180 sticks, which she had in her son's barn, went up in smoke. Her invalid husband died last spring, leaving several small children looking to her for support, and the loss falls heavily on the poor widow.

A good deal of tobacco was bitten by frost in this section Monday night. Crops are fine however in spite of late cut worms and early frosts.

Kicked By a Horse.

Henry Jordan, an employee of the Water Works Company, was kicked several times by a horse he was driving to a cart late Thursday afternoon, and one leg was badly fractured. ... was run off and when Jordan fell out of the cart he fell near the horse's head. The cart was demolished and the harness ruined.

New Coal Mine.

Another new coal mine has lately been opened in Hopkinsville at a point near Dawson. This mine is owned and operated by Messrs. Gentry and Williams. The vein of coal at the point where the mine was first opened is about three feet in thickness, but grows thicker as the mine is being developed.

Fall Military Opening.

The fall opening of Mr. T. J. Suddards, dealer in fancy military and notions, began yesterday and will continue throughout the week. A full line of the latest Fall and Winter styles are on exhibition and the ladies are cordially invited to come and see the grand display.

Circuit Court Matters.

Last week was consumed in the trial of civil matters. Several commonwealth cases are docketed for this week, but none of note. In the case of the commonwealth against Rev. Mrs. Myers, charged with assault, a fine of $75 and costs on a plea of guilty, was assessed.

Breathitt and Linn.

Mr. James Breathitt and Judge L. C. Linn, candidates for circuit judge, spoke at the court house yesterday to a large crowd. The speaking was in progress when we closed the forms.

THE COMING FAIR.

Shooting on the First Day by Two Splendid Gun Clubs.

One of the attractive features of the coming fair will be a very interesting shooting match between the Henderson gun club and the Hopkinville gun club on the afternoon of Oct. 17, to take place at the fair grounds. Shoot to commence at 3 o'clock sharp. The match will consist of ten members of each club to shoot a score of 20 pigeons each. The prize will be a $50 hammerless Parker gun. As there are some very fine shots in the Henderson club and some good shots in the Hopkinville club, the competition will likely take place. All who are fond of such sports will do well to attend the fair and be present at the match.

This is only one of several fair this year, not generally on the program. Every indication points to the most successful fair ever held.

MATRIMONIAL.

Ross-Hicks.—Mr. Press B. Ross, of Madisonville, and Miss Sarah C. Hicks, of Henderson, were married in the latter city Thursday last, Rev. Thos. Cummings officiating.

GRAND JURY'S WORK.

The grand jury completed its work Saturday and was discharged. In addition to the eight bills already reported the following indictments were returned.

Bob Tracy, malicious cutting. ... Bell, selling liquor to minor. Pies Marshall, col., selling liquor without license. Charles Anderson, two cases. Billy Davis, Jr., assault. Gran Hawkins, col., gaming. Nathan Bowles, col., assault and battery.

Barge Mason, col., b. of p. Bob Dycos, col., malicious shooting.

Lewis Hightower, same. Mr. Holmes, same. Link Wallace, unlawfully detaining women.

This makes a total of only 21 bills found at this term—the smallest number for years. The foreman, Rev. Mr. Campbell, informed us that there were fewer complaints reported to the jury at this term than ever before, when he was a member of that body.

Newspaper Stock Sold.

F. W. Dabney, assignee of Hunter Wood, sold at public auction at the court house door yesterday, among other property turned over as shares of stock in the New Era Publishing Company. The stock brought $1276, or about 24 cents on the dollar, and was knocked down to Walker Wood, the present business manager of the New Era, and son of the former owner.

Thoroughbred Colts.

Mr. J. A. Radford shipped three thoroughbred colts to Cincinnati yesterday afternoon to offer them for sale. ... were of his own breeding and were born in yearlings. ... a boy and a girl.

Radford is extensively engaged in the stock business and is the owner of some fine specimens of horse flesh, as well as other thoroughbred animals.

Sam Compton Dead.

Sam W. Compton, business manager of the Madisonville Hustler, died Sunday morning after a long illness of typhoid fever. He was a young man of the finest character and in his death the press of the State sustains a serious loss. He leaves a young wife.

The correspondent of the Louisville Post, who is traveling over the State hunting for disgruntled Democrats who are opposing Hardin, has been called down at Cynthiana. He has added to his list of loyal party men in his list of bolters and the Democrat of that city is filled with delegates, one of the angry gentlemen going so far as to denounce the correspondent as "a coward, a d—d liar and a scoundrel."

Pot. Duffy also took up this work.

The Superintendent discussed the subject of the County Library. Reminded the teachers that they should return the books in a reasonable time. Reserved 99 volumes. The teacher does not give the library the opportunity presented by the library, often as they ought. The two members of the County Board of Examiners were reappointed as a library committee. The old book case had been sold for $5.00, this with $3.44 on hand amounted to $8.44 total.

Nominations were then made for Editors to conduct an Educational Column on each paper in the city. Prof. C. F. Coyer for the Banner, Prof. C. F. Coyer for the New Era, Miss Jennie West for the New Era.

The chairman of the Committee on Necrology reported the following:

PROCEEDINGS

OF THE CHRISTIAN COUNTY TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

Prof. Bartholomew, of Louisville, Ky., Conducator.

Miss Jennie West I have no special school, I offer myself to circumstance. Would do much work in classes of beginners.

Prof. Clardy. I would start with the colonies, make a careful study of their forms of government. Trace the development of these into our present constitution.

Prof. Sollee asked if it was legal to use different sets of books on the same subject in the same audience.

County Superintendent. Yes in the list of adopted books.

The Institute then proceeded to the organization of County Associations, in each Magisterial district. Much confusion resulted from the fact that the teachers did not know the boundaries of their districts. The County Superintendent then deferred this until sometime in the near future. There being no further business the Institute adjourned.

FRIDAY, August 20, 1895.

MORNING SESSION.

Music. Prayer and scripture reading by Rev. H. R. Russell. Song by Miss Kate McDonald. Her coming forward was the signal for a burst of applause. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Miss Ellen Youngthen sang in a very charming manner solo.

The County Superintendent then addressed the Institute. She reminded the teachers that a grade is an obligation. Of course it is quite a difficult matter to grade our country schools properly, but it is not impossible. The grading must be done by degrees. The programme and course of study sent out by the State Board would be found quite helpful.

She then called the attention of the teachers to the registers. This is to be a guide to the superintendents, bearing in mind for a four year record.

Keep a record of the visits of the trustees. See that they fill out that part of the register devoted to an annual record. Teachers must use the books adopted by the County Board.

Prof. Bartholomew then introduced the subject of language lessons and grammar. With beginners in language work reproduction was an excellent exercise if properly conducted. Insist on beginning every sentence with a capital letter. See that it closes with the proper point.

Prof. McCarney. Simple teaching of the science of grammar will not make great scholars. Grammar is an art is necessary. The most important thing to the children is to have a living model.

The teacher himself should use the English language with elegance and ease. So long as our speech bristles with barbarisms and with slang we cannot succeed.

We must have that grammar means the language. Custom does this; We of cultured people. Learning to speak grammatically is largely imitative. Our instructions are based too much on written work. So when the pupil goes out into the world he betrays himself the moment he opens his mouth.

At what point shall we find the student is and begins at this point. Owl lesson should come in.

is the natural way. Then follow with the written work. Let the student revise his own work before he hands it in. The paper must be freely revised by the teacher. Be sure to write his thoughts in his own words. Do not let him copy out what he has written before the entire school.

Avoid sarcasm. As to subjects; let them write about their daily work. Avoid the name composition.

Prof. Thorn gave an exercise in practical arithmetic showing his methods of teaching L. C. M. and G. C. D. and treatment of fractions.

Prof. Walker followed with a talk on the same subject.

Pot. Duffy also took up this work.

The Superintendent discussed the subject of the County Library. Reminded the teachers that they should return the books in a reasonable time.

SAM HASN'T COME YET.

Rev. Stewart and Calpepper begin the Tabernacle Meeting.

The meeting at the Tabernacle began Sunday. Sam Jones was in Bowling Green but Revs. Stewart and Culpepper held three services, preaching to large crowds. The singing is in charge of Prof. Tillman and two assistants and the music is very fine. A large excursion came on the O. & R. Sunday the people expect to be here Saturday. Sam Jones will be here until to-morrow night and maybe not until Thursday morning. He will certainly arrive though at the middle of the week.

Yesterday services were held three times. Mr. Culpepper discoursed "Prayer" on one of them. He and Mr. Stewart are alternating services and both of them doing some excellent preaching.

The Institute then proceeded to the organization of County Associations, in each Magisterial district. Much confusion resulted from the fact that the teachers did not know the boundaries of their districts. The County Superintendent then deferred this until sometime in the near future. There being no further business the Institute adjourned.

The offerings this week were the same as for some time past. Our market was a quarter to a cent higher on dark fat lugs. All other grades ruled the price as last week. Stock on the market is comparative and there is no chance to fill an order for a grade above the grade in bad condition, therefore will wait until the new crop is available.

On Monday Sept. 30, there was a very heavy killing frost, which did some damage in this, as well as other sections. I am unable to state what extent the damage will be yet. The largest loss was that of persons who had 20 acres of land and there were many smaller losses.

The warehousemen are making large preparations in getting their houses to receive the new crop, and there is a large re-handling house in course of erection.

This handsome building will be an ornament to South Main and will do much to add to the popularity of the "Bottom" as a business center.

South Main street at 17th and 18th has been for several days obstructed with ropes stretched across the street, and all travel in vehicles has been turned around to Virginia street. This was done on account of the critical illness of Mr. Jno. T. Edmunds, whose rest was constantly disturbed by the clutter of wharves on the street.

The city authorities took steps at the request of the family. The wharves were placed at both ends to explain to the passers by the object of the blockade.

TRIENNAL COUNCIL.

Congregational Churches to Meet in National Session.

One of the Great Religious Gatherings of the Year—Delegates Will Assemble at Syracuse, N. Y., October 9—History of the Church.

Special Syracuse (N. Y.) Letter.

On the three years of the Congregational Council the United States meet in national session. Every state association sends one delegate for every ten churches, or major fraction of ten, in the state; one delegate for each 100 church members, or major fraction of 100, church members, and one delegate at large. Each Congregational state society is entitled to one delegate, and the faculties of theological seminaries recognized by the church have the privileges of delegates, but only for purposes of debate and deliberation. Five hundred delegates, divided equally between clerical and lay delegates, constitute what is called the "National Council of the Congregational Churches of the United States." This body remains in session six days, its sole purpose being the fostering of closer relations between the churches in different parts of the country. It has no legislative functions whatever, but the conferring of such power as any body of delegates can give to the principle of Congregationalism.

The rock upon which the denomination considers itself founded is the complete independence of each and every congregation. Any association of congregations is but a mere covenant for the maintenance of Divine worship, the observance of Christian rites and combined efforts to promote the kingdom of God, constitutes a church society, and as such is competent to elect and ordain its own officers, and to make appointments for membership, ministerial examinations and transact its own business. The pastor stands the office of bishop or elder. The deacons are not technically ministers, but they are helpers of the pastor, and have special charge of certain departments of the work of the church. In no way does the denomination recognize any rule of ecclesiastical power except the Bible, but it specifically repudiates all claims of superior bodies to exercise legislative or judicial authority.

For several hundred years the Congregationalists of America destined to hold what was now called "national" meetings; but in 1823 a number of delegates from various parts of the country met at Albany, N. Y., for the purpose of discussing important problems. In 1860, the meeting was held at Boston, and the Boston council, met at Boston. In 1870 the Pilgrim convention, held in Chicago to commemorate the 250th anniversary of Congregationalism in America, suggested to many influential men the advisability of holding regular meetings of the entire body of the church, and the discussion of questions of interstate importance. The agitation resulted in a delegate convention, which met in Oberlin, O., in November, 1871, and formally organized the "National Council," which has met regularly ever since. The second session of the council was held at New Haven, Conn., in holding the number of elected men who will represent local church societies at the council will be Senator Frye, of Maine; Senator Kyle, of South Dakota; Dwight L. Moody, the evangelist; Rev. F. W. Gunesalus, of Chicago; Rev. Dr. Storrs, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott, of Brooklyn, editor of "Outlook and Herald"; successor as pastor of Plymouth church; President Jordan, of Stanford university; President Hyde, of Bowdoin college; President Tucker, of Dartmouth College; Rev. Dr. Washington Gladden, of Ohio; Prof. Francis E. Clark, of Boston, founder of the Christian Endeavor society; and scores of others of equal prominence.

The general interest taken in all acts of the Congregational church may be seen in a measure from the fact that its largest membership is the Mayflower pilgrim. And this thought suggests the necessity of pointing out the difference between the pilgrim and puritan, which is explained at the "Advocate" Almanac, published at Cambridge.

After the reformation, says this useful handbook, there were independent churches; but the first church of Americans Congregational was formed in Scrooby, England, in 1609; persecuted by the government, it was forced into London, and scattered from Deptford June 22, 1609, floated in the Mayflower four months, and landed at Plymouth December 21, 1620.

The pilgrims were different from the puritans. The puritans left England to escape religious persecution, as members of the Church of England; though they soon found connection with the established church impracticable and organized as Congregational.

The first church of Salem in 1628, and the first church of Boston in 1630.

The settlers were John Winthrop, Sir Richard Saltonstall, George Phillips, John Cotton, Richard Mather and Increase Mather. The pilgrims were Gov. William Bradford, Gov. John Carver, Gov. Edward Winslow, William Brewster, Capt. Miles Standish and John Alden.

In Great Britain the Congregationalists are known as Independents. Despite persecution the denomination has prospered, and now has a membership of over half a million, and maintains a number of educational institutions, some of which have been placed under government protection. Congregational statistics for the whole world are as follows:

	Christians	Members
North America.....	5,000,000	575,000
South America.....	500,000	5,000
Europe.....	6,000,000	630,000
Africa.....	1,000,000	100,000
Australia.....	1,000,000	100,000
Polyasian.....	400	40
Total.....	14,500	1,560,000

According to the census report of 1890 the Congregational church in the United States had a total membership of 512,771, divided into 4,868 societies, and church property valued at $46,536. Its educational mission and charitable work is conducted on a liberal scale, the principal agents being the American Board of Foreign Missions; the American Missionary Association; the Congregational Home Missionary society; the Congregational Education society; the Church Building society; the American Sunday School and Publication society and the General Board of Foreign Missions.

The American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions is a body famous the world over. It was organized in 1810, and has sent out over 2,000 missionaries, of whom 375 are now in service. The mission fields at present occupied are Mexico, Hawaii, Japan, North China, Northwest China, Foo Chow and Hong Kong, in South China, Abyssinia, Misraim, in Southern India, East Central Africa, Southern Africa, West Central Africa, Eastern Central Asia, and Western Turkey, Europe, Turkey, Austria and Spain. The total number of missionaries, native and foreign, teachers, native assistants, and other native assistants, number 3,905. The president of the American board is Richard S. Storrs, D. D., LL. D., the famous Brooklyn preacher. The annual meeting of the board will take place at Brooklyn, N. Y., October 4-6.

The Congregational Home Missionary society, of which Gen. O. H. Howard is president, has done much to advance the interests of the denomination in the West and Northwest. Its business is conducted along commercial lines, new churches being established only where there seems to be an actual demand. The work of this society is made particularly effective through the earnest cooperation of the women of the church. The work of the society is not limited to the work of its charitable apparatus, the American Missionary association, whose headquarters are located in the Bible house, New York, maintains evangelistic and educational missions in the south and among the Indians and Chinese of the west. Its Sunday-schools, called "Sunday-school missionaries," organize Sunday-schools in neglected regions, and furnishes supplies to needy Sunday-schools.

All of these great societies will be represented at Syracuse by their ablest officials; and so will hundreds of their members.

REV. F. W. GUNESALUS, D. D., One of the prominent delegates from Chicago.

Local charitable and missionary associations and circles.

Among the many anecdotes relating to the celebrated Dr. Chalmers, an amusing one was once told by a gentleman on his return from his first visit to Edinburgh.

He had heard a great deal about the wonderful oratorical powers possessed by some of the members of the general assembly, and, being anxious to hear and judge for himself, paid an early visit to it.

Next he visited the Youth's Committee, an elderly, hard-headed, sedentary man, leaning with both hands on a heavy stick, which he eyed with great concentration of gaze, scarcely lifting his eyes from his absorbed contemplation of it.

Soon the stranger's attention was directed upon the speaker who had opened the day's discourse.

The wonderful command of language which he possessed, combined with a fluency of style and the peculiarity of his manner, excited the listener's curiosity to a great degree. "Can you tell who is speaking now?" he asked, eagerly, turning to the sober-faced old man.

"Who's speaking now?" echoed the old man, lifting his eyes from the contemplation of the stick to fix them in complete amazement upon his interrogator. "That, sir, is the great Doctor Chalmers, and I'm holdin' his stick!"

Another anecdote is as follows:

A physician in a country village has lately given his medical brethren some additional instances of the ways in which contagions are spread that should make us all thoughtful.

The only case of scarlet fever ever lost by this doctor, he said, occurred in a case communicated by a letter written by a mother (in whose family there were two cases of the fever) to a friend a hundred miles away. The envelope of the letter was given to a child to carry. Another severe case of the fever was contracted by a little girl from two playmates who had what the doctor called "scarlet rash," and still another was carried to a family by a carpenter, who lived eight miles away, whose little children were also with scurvy, a disease that the attending physician informed the father was not nearly as catching as scarlet fever.

Their signatures.

In one of the fashionable "Kurorte" on the Rhine, reports a writer in the Realm, he came across some queer entries in the visitors' book of the principal hotel. One of the Paris members of the Rothschild family had signed "O. de Cologna." It so happened that Baron Oppenheim, the well-known Cologne banker, was the next arrival, and immediately capped the above by signing "O. de Cologna."

Round Oak Stove.

Now is the time to buy heating stoves. The Round Oak is still in the lead. It is the only air tight stove on the market. The genuine ROUND OAK found only at Forbes & Bro. It heats more on less fuel than any stove made and will out last a half dozen of the cheap imitations.

Majestic Range.

We sold more majestic ranges last year than were ever sold before in the same time, and the reason they sell is because they are the best and most economical baker's made. The oven is the most important part of a cooking apparatus, the fire box is the digestive organ and the draft is the circulation. These organs in the Majestic are different from any stove or range made. The Majestic oven is the most sensitive, the fire box the most economical and the draft the simplest and most perfect.

ON A TOMBSTONE.

A Human Face Produced in a Miraculous Manner.

In the Oak Hill cemetery at Stony Brook, L. I., a large tombstone of mortified limestone bears a complete portrait of an average-sized human face. The picture is not the work of a sculptor, nor has it been graven with the marble-cutter's chisel; it is a natural production, the outlines of the face being formed by a singular grouping of the dead stone and its veins, characteristic of first-class imported stone. The remarkable peculiarity of this particular stone has been known for two or three years, and throughout the length and breadth of Long Island it is referred to as "the stone that weeps." Some persons who would be inclined to inspecting the grain and polish of such a memorial shaft, the outlines of the face cannot be traced, but at a distance of thirty-five to fifty feet it is as plain as though done with an artist's brush, the grouping of the stone veins and the veins themselves resembling a face, but a complete portrait, including hair, eyes, nose, cheeks, mouth, chin, etc. Its outlines are clearest, of course, when the shadows and light play properly upon it. If the stone is tilted in any direction, the portrait is plainly visible at all times. The face is on the back of the stone, and the eyes are so set as to appear to be looking down upon the grave of the person to whose memory the shaft was erected.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

From Infancy

My daughter was troubled with scrofula. A swelling came in one of her ears and broke open. It discharged freely and the whole side of her head became affected.

The trouble continued ten years and she lost the hearing in that ear. After an attack of typhoid fever she was left very weak. She coughed and raised a great deal. We resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla and after taking six bottles she was greatly improved. Now the sores are perfectly healed and she has good hearing in that ear." Mrs. M. WILKINSON, Farham, Tenn.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases but together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local remedies, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 to 20 drops at a time. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address J. A LADY "SPECIALIST."

Suffering Physician in New York Has an Experience.

The Believer Has Attended in About Ten Minutes, But Did Other Things as Well in About the Same Time.

A well-known physician who a few months ago was thrown from his carriage by his horse taking flight at a bicycle on Seventh avenue, and who had his head badly hurt, was driving on Jerome avenue a few days ago, says the New York Journal. He was suddenly taken with violent pains in his head, as had intermittently been the case ever since he was injured. He stopped at Judge Smith's old place to see if he could not do anything that would afford him relief.

As he was debating with his lady companion as to what he had better do, a well-dressed woman with a grip-sack entered the parlor and took in the situation at a glance, for it was plainly evident that the physician was greatly distressed.

"Is the pain mostly in the back of your head?" asked the woman.

"Oh, it's all over my head," groaned the physician.

"Let me feel your pulse. Exactly. Caused by a nervous state, brought on by a shock. Your tongue, I thought so. Corroborates my diagnosis."

"Are you a physician?" the sufferer asked.

"Not in its general sense. I'm a specialist in neuralgia. Use little besides animal magnetism. Don't believe in drugs for you. You are skeptical, of course, but I'll agree to cure you in ten minutes or forfeit $100."

"I'll give you $10 if you cure me in an hour," groaned the despairing sufferer.

The woman made the physician recline in a rocker and close his eyes. Then she began to rub his face and hands, making a motion as if shaking off something from her fingers after each pass.

Strangely enough, in less than five minutes the sufferer began to feel easier, and in five minutes more the pain had entirely disappeared.

The physician forthwith offered the $10 bill, but she refused it, saying that she simply wanted to prove the efficacy of her theory.

"You'd better sit quiet and lean back for about ten minutes, so, and close your eyes, so, to prevent a recurrence of the trouble, for your nerves need rest and nourishment. Take no stimulants—better take sedatives. Good afternoon."

And she gracefully bowed herself out.

"Where's your scarfpin, doctor?" asked the physician's companion.

"Did you take it off?"

He felt for it, and then exclaimed, "Robbed, by Jove!"

The "specialist" had got a diamond pin worth $130, a $1,000 bill, two $20 notes and a railroad pass to Niagara.

PROCEEDINGS.

Mr. James Webber Davis, who died at his home in Cincinnati on the 1st day of April last, in the 30th year of his age, Mr. Davis had been for twenty years constantly engaged in teaching, and always manifested a willingness to perform any task that might be assigned him, and in every way showing himself worthy of the profession which he had chosen in life especially. He was a consistent member of the Christian Church, an enthusiastic advocate of all that tended to advance the cause of Christ and a devoted Sunday-school leader. Therefore, be it

1st. RESOLVED, That we have sustained a very great loss through his death.

Second, That we, as a body of teachers, imitate whatever of his life and character we may have found noble and elevating.

W. E. GRAY,
GEORGE KEITH,
MABEL BLAINE,
MINNIE KING,
Linnie Shepard,
Committee.

The report was adopted and the committee discharged.

Third, On Resolutions, that Dr. W. H. Clardy, presented the following series of resolutions which were adopted:

1st. RESOLVED, That we, the teachers of Christian county assembled in Institute, thank the directors of this building for its use. We express our appreciation of the care and tact of our Superintendent and for the energy, patience, ability and skill displayed by our Instructor, Prof. Bartholomew, in conducting the discussion.

2nd. RESOLVED, That local taxation would be productive of good attention to the grading of better teachers and of higher education in the country schools.

That unflagging zeal and determination on the part of the teachers to be always progressing will ultimately bring about the desired reforms.

That we teachers prosecute our work with energy, up-to-date, in every way and allow no old fogeyism or prejudice against new methods to draw us from our purpose.

That the title Professor, as applied to us, the teachers in common schools, is a misnomer, has no worthy significance and should be abolished.

That we teachers prosecute our work with energy, up-to-date, in the Reading Circle, the grade of examination questions and all other work of State Board calculated to raise the standard of the teacher.

That we thank our efficient Secretaries for the faithful performance of their duties.

That the Institute as a body petition our Superintendent to hold our Institute in October or at least in cool weather.

That we extend our sincere thanks to Prof. Pooler and the ladies who so highly entertained us with their music.

EDWARD SOLLEE, Ch'm'n.
U. L. LARSON,
Miss Dora Anderson,
Miss Kate Guthrie,
H. H. West,
Mrs. Allen,
Committee,

Prof. Bartolomew in a few brief well-chosen words thanked the Institute for their kind reception and courtesy they had shown him.

Miss Kate McDaniel then congratulated the teachers on the interest manifested as shown by the full attendance, the roll showing 90 teachers present; this included only three not properly belonging to the country schools.

The Institute then adjourned sine die. Thus ended one of the most enthusiastic gatherings of teachers held here for some time.

The Coming Fair.

The Fifth Annual meeting of the Christian County Fair will be held Oct. 17, 18 and 19 and preparations have been made for a much better fair than usual. The fine crops, the increased interest and the extra efforts made to improve the various departments will all help to insure a successful meeting. Many special premiums have been offered by the merchants and some fine exhibits are promised. For particulars and catalogue write to Jno. B. Gilbreath, Sec'y.

Mrs. Cecilia E. Bailey and her sister, Miss Bertha Eppinghouse, in their concert at the Tabernacle Thursday night, gave an entertainment that was satisfactory in every respect. Mrs. Bailey's singing was truly enjoyable and Miss Eppinghouse's recitations were rendered in a most charming manner.

The October number of The Forum will contain three notable articles on the "Significance of the English Elections." The first article, contributed by Sir Horace Maxwell, M.P., late junior Lord of the Treasury, and a distinguished member of the conservative party. He considers the late election "A Crisis in English History" and he sets forth what he believes to be the cause of the Liberal defeat. Mr. George E. Russell, who was a member of Mr. Gladstone's second and fourth administrations, and who remained in office until Lord Rosebery's resignation last June, adduces nine reasons for his party's defeat, the most important of which considers to be the temperance plank in its platform. The third article, "Why Whence and Whither?" is from the pen of Mr. Justin McCarthy, the leader of the Irish party in the House of Commons. He discusses the Liberal defeat from the Irish point of view, and considers its bearings on Home Rule, which he thinks may be delayed, but is bound to come sooner or later.
